This treasured tale begins as young Fern Arable adopts a baby pig on her family farm. When it looks as if her favorite pig will end up under the butcher's knife, the wise spider Charlotte and her animal friends come to the rescue — making Wilbur famous in the process. Featuring mad-cap and endearing farm animals, "Charlotte's Web" explores bravery, selfless love, and the true meaning of friendship.

When the enterprising Hazel Hunt of Cedar Ridge, Arkansas, retires as her small town's music teacher, she receives a Western Electric 500-watt Radio transmitter and begins broadcasting as radio station WGAL from the parlor of her home. What follows is a small town diary and good, old-fashioned fun, including a visit from one of Herbert Hoover's Federal Radio Inspectors. Does he have a good voice?

December 3, 4, 10, 11 at 8:00pm; December 12 at 2:00pm

Mix together a struggling theatre company, a tired production of A Christmas Carol, a really bad actor, and a visiting inspector for the National Endowment for the Arts and you end up with an off-the wall holiday farce. Everything that could possibly go wrong does as a fictitious theater company struggles to mount their annual production of the holiday classic. Bad theater has never been this much fun before!
